DEXA Scan Used To Diagnose Osteoporosis

A DEXA scan is most commonly recommended to diagnose and monitor cases of osteoporosis or osteopenia. It is a more conventional approach to the measurement of bone density and offers more benefits than a simple X-ray. DEXA provides EARLY detection of bone loss, making it possible to receive treatment BEFORE damage becomes irreparable.

DEXA entails less radiographic exposure than traditional X-ray's and is typically less expensive than other methods used for detecting mineral loss.

Woman past the stage of menopause, those who have a history of multiple fractures, those who suffer from rheumatoid arthritis, heavy smokers and drinkers are at a higher risk for osteoporosis and are recommended candidates for the DEXA test.

Boulder City Hospital strives to keep its community healthy and encourages early detection to prevent harmful conditions. If you suffer from or are at risk of osteoporosis, we encourage you to talk to your doctor about the benefits of a DEXA scan. Boulder City Hospital's DEXA scanning equipment is state of the art and offers painless, non invasive scanning that takes approximately 10 minutes.

Our friendly Radiology staff

Just bring an order from your physician and schedule your same or next day appointment. Our staff is professionally trained to deliver specialized care in a professional atmosphere centered around our patient's needs.

Healthcare Access A Top Priority

Improved access to healthcare services is a priority for all community hospitals. To help address this issue Boulder City Hospital has created partnerships with medical specialists to practice in Boulder City on a part-time basis. This cooperative agreement helps to improve access as well as decrease the need for many residents to leave town for healthcare. We thank the following physicians for playing a crucial role in providing much needed specialty services in our community.

Quality Matters at Boulder City Hospital

Boulder City Hospital strives to provide our patients with the best treatment options and the highest quality of care available. Quality care is our top priority – that’s why we participate in quality core measurements, a national performance measurement system. Core measures help hospitals compare and continuously improve the care provided at healthcare facilities.

Boulder City Hospital scored 100% in all core quality measures during the second quarter! Our ongoing commitment to provide high quality care to each one of our patients is reflected in our core measurement score. No wonder 99% of patients who receive care at Boulder City Hospital would recommend Boulder City Hospital to friends and family!

Boulder City Hospital participates in core measurement evaluation with other rural hospitals through the Nevada Rural Hospital Partnership. Core measures are based on the treatment and care provided by physicians and nursing staff and include indicators such as disease specific diagnosis instructions, response times of ER physicians as well as others. The Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services established this systematic process to measure and continuously improve the healthcare patients receive by reducing the risk of complications, preventing readmissions and otherwise treat the majority of patients who receive care at a hospital.

Boulder City Hospital provides each of our patients with individualized care, focused on YOUR specific needs. We strive to be the community’s choice for all of your healthcare related needs. Our highly trained staff ensures that every patient receives the attention they deserve and the appropriate care needed for a speedy recovery.
